Sophomores free to live off-campus

Off-campus living for sophomores, effective next year, and a graduated program of self-regulated hours for freshman women, effective immediately, have been approved by the administration recently in an effort to make campus living more attractive.

The Very Rev. Louis Gaffney, S.J., acting president, accepted the recommendation of his vice-presidential cabinet last Friday to waive the present housing restrictions for sophomores.

THOSE FROM outside the Seattle area would be allowed to live off-campus with permission of their parents. Present regulations require all out-of-Seattle freshmen and sophomores to live on-campus unless granted a special waiver.

The vice presidential cabinet includes Fr. Joseph Perri, S.J., executive vice president; Fr. Timothy Cronin, S.J., vice president for students; Dr. William Guppy, acting academic vice president; and William Adkisson, vice president for business and finance.

"IT IS INCREASINGLY clear that a large number of parents feel that their son or daughter should be free to live off campus or on campus with minimal regulations," Fr. Gaffney remarked.

"It is also clear that the University no longer holds 'the place of parent' for resident students," he continued. "Therefore, the University administration will endeavor to make campus living as attractive as possible in order to support the excellent housing we have."

The graduated hours proposal for freshmen women was suggested by Dona MacDonald, assistant dean of women.

UNDER THE NEW plan, fall quarter freshman would be subject to existing curfew hours. Winter quarter freshmen would be allowed self-regulated hours on Friday and Saturday.

Spring quarter freshmen would have the same self-regulated hours that sophomores petitioned for and received in January of this year.

The graduated hours proposal, approved by the trustees, is presently in effect for spring quarter freshmen women.

THE PROPOSAL was drawn up following an opinion survey of the parents of freshmen girls.

The Student Personnel Committee has assured Fr. Gaffney that both Bellarmine and Xavier, next year's dorms, will be filled under the new arrangement.

Will freshmen eventually be permitted to live off campus?

"THE STUDENT officers I have talked to feel that it's good for freshmen to live on campus," Fr. Gaffney noted, "in order to get acquainted before being given the option of living off-campus."

The ASSU officers, dorm resident assistants and the Student Personnel Committee are presently working on proposals to make campus living more attractive.

Financial considerations will determine whether or not some of their proposals are feasible in the near future, Fr. Gaffney warned.

RECALLING the "old days" when students lived in scattered houses near the campus and dreamt of the day they could all be together in a "dorm," Fr. Gaffney wondered if perhaps the present trend toward off-campus living might reverse itself in a few years.

"We should keep our dorm situation for a number of years until we're absolutely sure people hate it," he smiled.

Campus living really hasn't been given "a fair chance," the acting president feels.

STEPS TAKEN this year to glamorize on-campus living include the self-regulated sophomore hours, extended visiting hours at Marian Hall and the extension of intervisitation hours for Bellarmine and Campion.

No word has yet been received from the Department of Housing and Urban Development on the disposition of Campion, Fr. Gaffney noted. No other offers have been made to buy the building.

Wright bound for Chile as Fulbright award winner

by Don Nelson

Carolyn Wright will soon be on her way to Chile—by way of Scotland, Seattle and Washington, D.C.

Carolyn, a December graduate in English, was recently awarded a Fulbright-Hays scholarship for graduate study at the University of Chile, in Santiago. The grant provides round trip transportation, tuition, books and maintenance for 12 months.

THE WELL-TRAVELED coed was in her home town—Seattle—last week following a tour of Europe. She will leave for Santiago from Washington, D.C., in late July.

Carolyn was staying at a youth hostel in Inverness, Scotland, on May 1 when her intuition told her something big had happened.

"I had a feeling something was going on, and I just had to call home," she said. The half hour it took to place the call was well worth the wait.

"CAROLYN," her father said when he answered the phone, "you got the Fulbright!"

A graduate of S.U.'s honors program, Carolyn has not yet decided on her exact course of study, although she would like to take Spanish literature, history of Chile and South America, and art and poetry classes.

"I thought I had a better chance of getting into Chile," she said of her choice of countries. "I speak fluent Spanish and wanted to go to some Spanish speaking country other than Spain. South America seemed the best possibility."

CAROLYN said she will probably be living with a Chilean family, as other Fulbright winners have done in the past.

The former editor of Fragments, S.U.'s literary magazine, hopes to write and illustrate a book of poetry during her stay. "I'm tired of just studying," she said. "I want to produce something. The most important thing to me will be to produce a book of poetry—that will be my main emphasis."

Carolyn also hopes to "learn something from the Chilean people."

"I'M VERY excited about living for a year in a foreign country, instead of just passing through," she said. "I think the most important thing for young Americans to do is to visit other countries."

"Learning about other people can be a big help to our own country."

Federal aid funds take severe cut

by Ann Standaert

Several federal aid programs will be cut back sharply next year, Lt. Col. Michael Dolan told the Student Services Committee Friday.

Dolan, director of financial aid, said that S.U. will receive only 59 per cent of the total funds the University requested through the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

THE EDUCATIONAL Opportunity Grant, Work Study, and National Defense Student Loan programs will be affected. The EOG program alone will lose about $40,000.

The cut will have little effect on those students already receiving financial aid, as most of the grants for next year have already been made. However, because most of the existing funds have been committed, new students will receive less aid.

The financial aid office plans to protest the cuts with a letter writing campaign stressing rising tuition, costs, and enrollment, and the effect of decreased funds.

Tom Mitchell, student representative on the committee, brought up the matter of firearms in Campion Tower. Mitchell pointed out that the student handbook prohibits the possession of firearms by students living on campus.

Three weeks ago, a Campion resident was threatened by a Seattle Community College student who resided in the dormitory. Because of this incident, Mitchell suggested that the regulation should be changed to include non-students as well.

"IT IS AN ill-kept secret," Mitchell asserted, "that a lot of people in the dorm do have guns."

Fr. Robert Rebhahn, S.J., director of resident student services, contended that there is no problem.

"There are two sides to every story," he said. "The police were called in and the victim had a chance for recourse. So far, nothing has been done about it."

"SO FAR as an ill-kept secret, I don't know anyone who has a gun."

In other business, AWS President Corky McGuigan proposed that the class attendance policy be eliminated. Presently, students can receive a failing grade in a course if they miss 15 per cent of the class sessions.

Dean of Women Agnes Reilly noted that this provision is included in the proposed Student Bill of Rights and after some discussion it was decided that the matter should be referred to the Academic Council.

Classes out for racial workshop

"New Directions, New Goals" is the theme of tomorrow's all-University interracial education workshop from 11 a.m.-3 p.m. in the Astrogym of the Connolly P.E. Center.

Classes will be dismissed from 10:40 a.m.-3 p.m. for the workshop, planned under the joint sponsorship of the ASSU, Office of Minority Affairs, Political Union, Disadvantaged Student Program, and Student Afro American Movement for Equality.

DIRECTOR of Minority Affairs Charles Mitchell will introduce two prominent minority ministers, Rev. Albert B. Cleage, Jr., and Rev. Tony Ubalde, Jr., the keynote speakers. Their talks will be followed by question and answer periods.

The gathering will break for lunch at 12:45 p.m. Hot dogs, ice cream, cold drinks, and coffee will be sold by Town Girls.

A film on communication will follow the lunch break. Participants will then break into smaller groups for discussion. The discussion groups will return to the Astrogym at 2:45 p.m. for closing comments.

The Rev. Cleage is a minister at the Shrine of the Black Madonna of the United Church of Christ in Detroit. He is the author of "The Black Messiah."

REV. UBALDE is minister to the Third World Community, Glide Memorial United Methodist Church, San Francisco, president of the United Filipino Association, and chairman of the Asian Housing Area Development.

Evans, state officials in panel appearance

Governor Daniel J. Evans and two other high level state administrators will discuss student impact on state government today at 11 a.m. in the library auditorium.

The appearance is part of a campus tour program, designed by the Governor's office, in which top state officials visit college campuses to better acquaint college students with the functions of state government.

Byron Brady, director of the state Office of Economic Opportunity, and William Clarke, chief Assistant Attorney General for Consumer Protection, will accompany Evans today.

Similar administrative panels have visited several other state colleges, but today marks the first time the Governor has been a member of one of the groups.

The session is open to all members of the University community. Instructors have been given permission to dismiss 11 a.m. classes, if they wish to do so, by the academic vice president's office.

Volunteer Project 'concerned with man'

by Ann Standaert

"Any man's death diminishes me because I am involved in mankind."

John Donne, an English poet and priest, uttered that quotation in 1624. Today it is the theme of a medical relief program designed to "help the helpless."

PROJECT CONCERN, an independent, non-profit medical relief program, was founded by Dr. James Turpin in 1961 in Tijuana, Mexico. Since then it has expanded into an international organization with clinics in Mexico, Hong Kong, South Vietnam, Tennessee and New Mexico.

The objective of Project Concern is self-sufficiency. Working toward that goal are doctors, dentists, nurses, pharmacists, technicians and volunteers.

S.U. IS PART of the list of volunteers.

Project Concern has been a Spur project for about five years. This year, Kathy Terrel, the Spur chairman, wanted to do something more with it. And so, with the help of Sue McNamara and Larry Syiegltz, Project Concern became an S.U.

project.

As the first money raiser, the Project Concern committee decided on a "Walk for Mankind" scheduled for next October.

THE FIRST problem was to get enough students involved in the project. The committee decided to try sending volunteers to Tijuana this summer, providing a chance to really find out about Project Concern from the bottom up.

While in Tijuana, the group will build a 40'x40' building to be used as an addition to the pediatrics clinic.

A few weeks ago, the committee began making plans for the Tijuana trip. Planned for June 13-23, it will involve 30 students.

THE COMMITTEE received over 90 applications from interested students. The last two weeks have been spent in interviewing these students. A list of those picked to go is available in the AWS office.

Transportation for the trip will be provided by a group of interested adults including the Seattle Jaycees and Junior Women. Donations will be solicited by volunteers at a Jaycee convention this week in Yakima.

Nine faculty receive NSF research grants

The University's Research Committee has made faculty grants totaling nearly $11,000, from a National Science Foundation Institutional Grant for science faculty research.

DR. JERRY RIEHL, associate physics professor, has received a grant for acquisition of electronic equipment for use in a new laboratory program in "Introductory Electricity and Magnetism."

Fr. Eugene Healy, S.J., biology professor, has received a grant for equipment for course improvement in BI 330, "Comparative Vertebrate Histology." Dr. George Davis, assistant biology professor, has received a grant for equipment for course improvement in Biology 160, "Botany."

Dr. Lewis Aldrich, Jr., biology chairman, has received a grant for equipment for course improvement in his department. Dr. Thomas Green, associate physics professor, has received a grant for an instructional film project.

DR. DAVID SCHROEDER, science and engineering dean, has received a grant for a Hewlett-Packard Display Unit to be associated with the computer calculator. Dr. Vincent Podbielancik, chemistry chairman, has received a grant for research equipment and an additional grant to be used for course improvement.

Dr. Robert Larson, sociology professor, has received a grant to improve the laboratory experience part of "Fundamental Sociology I." Fr. Arthur McNeil, S.J., chemistry professor, has received a grant for a research project on the "Variation of the Spectral Distribution of Daylight."

Financial office suggests early form submission

All students currently receiving financial aid through S.U. in the form of scholarship, tuition grants, National Defense loans, nursing loans or students who wish to apply should do so as soon as possible, according to the Financial Aid office.

Early and complete submission of all forms by student applicants will assist the Financial Aid office in the assignment of available funds. All students requiring assistance are urged to apply.

Forms and complete instructions are available from the Financial Aid office, Room 110 in the Bookstore. The Parents' Confidential Statement is a requirement, or the Student Confidential Statement for independent students.

Scholarship applicants will be judged on their cumulative gpa as of Winter quarter and their financial need. Students will be automatically considered for all types of aid for which they are eligible.

Write-in candidates increase ballot for senate-class president elections

The list of candidates for Friday's ASSU senate and class president elections has been increased by three write-in candidates.

Harold Nelson, Pete McLaughlin, and Tony Meyer missed the deadline for filing and will be write-in candidates on the ballot.

A CONSTITUTIONAL amendment to change the working period of the financial board from fall to spring quarter will also appear on the ballot.

Voting will be from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Liberal Arts building and the Chieftain and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Bellarmine. Results will be posted after 6 p.m. outside the Tabard Inn.

Laurie Lamont, a freshman sociology major, is unopposed for senate seat No. 9. She believes the current election system should be revised and that students should know where their money goes in the ASSU.

VYING FOR seat No. 10 are Roger Matsumoto and Harold Nelson.

Matsumoto hopes to improve communication among the ASSU and the various clubs and help develop a satisfactory relationship between students and administration.

Harold Nelson, a sophomore in honors, is a write-in candidate. His platform includes implementing course-teacher evaluation and dialogues between faculty and student body. He would also orient campus activities to include off-campus students.

TONY GRABICKI, a junior political science major, is the sole contender for seat No. 11. He promises to represent students and their views with a goal to inspire interest and involvement in campus, school and student activities.

The race for senate seat No. 12 is between John Cummins and Dennis Nolette.

Cummins, a sophomore general business major, hopes to develop new activities to make the senate more purposeful. He pledges to attend all scheduled meetings and initiate legislation which would encourage involvement.

Dennis Nolette did not submit a campaign platform.

FOR THE OFFICE of sophomore class president, Steve Odom is unopposed. John Hamburger has withdrawn from the contest.

Odom, a freshman pre-major, plans to present the academic and social views of the students to the administration and to develop and organize social activities for sophomores.

The candidates for junior class president are Gary Hansen and Doug Maryatt.

Hansen, a sophomore English major, believes the junior class needs unity and enthusiasm. As a member of the senate he thinks he can represent all junior students' views fairly and honestly.

Doug Maryatt, a sophomore business major, wants to separate ASSU business from club social functions and seat a senate representative on the alternate housing committee. He would introduce a bill before the senate requiring a platform be presented to the ASSU from each candidate running for office when filing.

THE OFFICE of senior class president has two write-in candidates, Pete McLaughlin and Tony Meyer.

McLaughlin, a junior history major, hopes to create a unified senior class and eliminate apathy. He cites his co-chairmanship of 1971 Homecoming and being yell king as examples of work he has done.

Tony Meyer did not submit a platform.

Golfers repeat B.C. victory; Brady takes top single honors

The Chieftain golf team brought home eight pieces of prestigious hardware last weekend from the University of British Columbia Golf Invitational with resounding victories over four other schools.

The team captured the Stan Leonard cup, the traditional perpetual trophy; first place individual trophy; and six other trophies for each member of the triumphant Chieftain team.

JIM BRADY, S.U.'s number one sticker, finished the tournament at 215 to give himself the individual award honor. Brady shot rounds of 70-73-72 over the three day tournament.

Teammate Randy Puetz came home with the third individual honor, with his scores of 75-77-73 for a total of 225.

"It's a great way to end the season," head coach Tom Page remarked. Speaking for the whole team he said, "It's always more fun when everybody wins!"

Other scores from the golf invitational were Keith Williams' score of 231, John Molitar at 232, Steve Dallas slipped to a 234, and Bob Lee carded a 235.

FINAL cumulative team scores for schools participating had S.U. with 893, UBC at 911, Western Washington at 945, Simon Fraser with 987, and University of Puget Sound, 971.

The win gave the golf team an undefeated record in dual matches.

CREW

The injury-plagued crew rowed to a third-place finish in the LaFromboise Cup last Saturday.

Racing against boats from Western Washington and Pacific Lutheran University, the Chieftains battled to the end, but lost by seven seconds. Pacific Lutheran was first in 6:50, followed by Western at 6:54 and S.U. three seconds behind at 6:57.

TWO ROOKIE oarsmen, John Rule and Gordon Alexander, rowed in seats left vacant by captain Barry Leahy, out with an injured shoulder, and John Gardin, temporarily disabled with a sore shoulder.

The final lineup had Rule at stroke, Dave Chandler at seven, Pete Bacho at six, Mark Pembroke at five, Dan Fulwiler at four, Alexander at three, Frank Pontorolo at two and Jim Heil in the bow seat.

Coach Jim Gardiner commented that, "It was tough to put two new men in a boat a week before the race."

ALTHOUGH the race was close, Gardiner felt the team could have rowed better.

"We were even with the other boats up to the 1200 meter mark when Western and Pacific Lutheran started to sprint. The boat simply failed to meet the challenge and was left behind."

BASEBALL

The Chiefs' 7-3 win over Bellevue Community College last Thursday was mindful of the monotonous motion of a rocking chair.

IT WAS NOT until the fourth inning that things began to happen, only in BCC's favor. The Chiefs retaliated in the next inning with one run off a BCC error, scoring Art Lagreid.

With all sacks jammed in the eighth inning, Chieftain Craig Maul rattled a hit to left field. BCC's left fielder managed to juggle the ball around and eventually let it drop away from him while S.U. had two runs already home and a third on his way in.

The winning pitcher for S.U. was Rich Newton. Newton now posts a 4-1 record after about 45 pitched innings.

TENNIS

"Heads or tails?" determined the Chieftain netters' second place finish at the University of Oregon Tournament last weekend.

The last day of the tournament was rained out, so, mercifully, to proclaim the winner, a coin was thrown into the air. The Chiefs ended up in second place.

MIKE PRINEAS, netter number one, defeated an OSU man, U. of O. player and won two doubles matches with his partner Marc Soriano. Prineas' only loss was to Steve Doherty from WSU, on the loss of the coin.

Other winners for S.U. were Tom Wenzel beating U. of O., and John Aldred's win over WSU.

Oregon State tallied 13 points to take the title with S.U. falling behind to seven and the U. of O. and WSU finishing with five points.

Soul Hustlers outdistance I.K.'s in intramural meet

The Soul Hustlers hit the cinders and the sawdust for 94 points to outdistance the I.K.'s in Friday's intramural track meet. The Hustlers won only four of the 11 events but showed enough depth to guarantee a win.

S.U.'s baseballers whipped the University of Washington 8-1 yesterday at Sick's Stadium. Gary Fox picked up the win, just missing a no-hitter when the Huskies picked up their lone run in the ninth. Pat Smith had a two run triple; John Varga a three run double.
